David Hamilton honored

David Hamilton

David Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt P. Hamilton of Appomattox took part in formal graduation ceremonies at the University of Virginia on May 18, 1980.

Although he received a Doctor of Philosphy degree from the university in August, 1979 the graduation ceremony was not held until May.

His doctorate is in Counselor Education with minors in clinical psychology and research methodology. As part of his degree he completed a half time internship in the counseling center at U. Va. and a full time, one year counseling/ clinical psychology internship at the University of California, Irvine.

Dr. Hamilton is a psychologist at the Community Mental Health Center in Huntington, West Virginia.

Hamilton graduated from Appomattox High School in 1967. He attended the College Of William and Mary and received a bachelor of arts degree in psychology in 1971. After college, he spent two years in the Medical Service Corps of the U. S. Army and attained the rank of first lieutenant. He obtained a Master of Science degree in general and clinical psychology from the University of Southwestern Louisana in 1975.

Attending the May graduation were his parents, his wife, Jeanne Hamilton, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bunnell of Huntington, New York.
